

The Project

Windsor Forest Primary School in Portland, Jamaica was built in 1965, to accommodate the children from the surrounding communities. It is the only elementary school within a 5 kilometer radius and currently has about 200 students in grades one to six. While the main schoolhouse has been well maintained, not much else has been done for improvements since it's establishment.

Calgary ReggaeFest organizers are currently seeking donations to complete a Resource Centre for the school. Construction for the Resource Centre began two years ago, but was halted due to lack of funds. The current structure is an unfinished shell and the ReggaeFest team hopes to have it as a fully functional Resource Centre by February 2012, one that will help connect the young students and the community to the global village.
